

In Recognition of April Volunteer Month

Every April, we pause to celebrate Volunteer Month—but at Methodist Jennie Edmundson Hospital, the spirit of volunteering is something we witness every single day.

From the warm welcome in the East and West Lobbies to the comforting presence in Oncology and the steady support in Outpatient Surgery, our volunteers are woven into every corner of the hospital. You'll find them assisting in the Emergency Department, lending a hand in the Pharmacy Annex and Office Resource, nurturing peace in the Healing Garden, supporting families through the Nurse Honor Guard, and bringing joy through the Gift Shop and special events. No matter where they serve, their impact is felt in meaningful and lasting ways.

For more than 50 years, Jennie Edmundson volunteers have given selflessly of their time, helping to create a culture where compassion and excellence come together. They serve seven days a week, providing support that complements the care we offer to our patients, their families, and the community.

Volunteering is more than just giving time—it's about connection. It brings people together for a common purpose and offers a chance to truly make a difference. Along the way, our volunteers build friendships, learn new skills, and experience the deep satisfaction of helping others.

This Volunteer Month, we extend our heartfelt gratitude to each and every Jennie Edmundson volunteer. Your kindness, dedication, and generosity make our hospital a better place for all.
